CLARION SAFETY SYSTEMS ENCOURAGES GIVING BACK TO LOCAL COMMUNITY THIS HOLIDAY SEASON

Company works with local organizations to support community, encourages employees and others to 'give back' this holiday season.

Milford, PA – December 22, 2014 – This holiday season, Clarion Safety Systems, a leading designer and manufacturer of safety signs and safety labels, is encouraging ways for the local community to become involved with the spirit of giving.

“We’re proud of the success we’ve seen in product safety labeling at our headquarters in Milford, Pennsylvania – a small town located where the states of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania meet,” says Geoffrey Peckham, CEO of Clarion Safety Systems. “For me, it’s a privilege to have founded this company which not only helps to reduce risk and protect people around the world, but supports our local community by providing employment opportunities with our in-house customer service, design and manufacturing services.”

That’s not the only way the company ‘gives back.’ Clarion actively makes charitable donations to local organizations throughout the year, as well as to encourage its employees to volunteer their time. In fact, the company has a policy for its employees that allows them to take paid time off each year for volunteering.

During the holiday season, when times can be especially hard for families in need, Clarion and its employees make a special effort. They assist with food drives each year for the Ecumenical Food Pantry of Pike County. As part of this project, volunteers from five local churches distribute nutritional grocery items to local families and individuals in need. Clarion also supports a seasonal yearly toy collection for Toys for Pike County Kids organized by Tri-State Gung Ho Detachment 909, U.S. Marine Corps League. The company provides drop-office boxes in its offices for employees to easily donate items to both causes.

“We’re proud that our employees dedicate their time and effort to supporting these worthwhile efforts, and we encourage other members of the community to do the same.”
